PRINCIPAL/AP CORNER

Dear Cumberland Families,

As we approach Election Day on Tuesday, November 5th, I want to share some thoughts on how we can engage our students in understanding this important civic event in an age-appropriate way. For young children, Election Day provides an opportunity to introduce concepts of citizenship, choice, and community in a positive, supportive context.

For elementary-aged students, we can explain that voting is a way for adults to make choices about their communities, schools, and leaders.

It's helpful to frame the election process as something that helps communities work together and make decisions for everyone's benefit. Families might want to talk about how voting is one way adults show responsibility and help make sure everyone has a voice in important matters.

If your child has questions or concerns, encourage them to share, and consider emphasizing the importance of listening, respect, and understanding that people can have different opinions while still being kind to each other. Our school values of respect, responsibility, and making good choices connect naturally to these ideas, and Election Day offers a real-world example.

Thank you for supporting our students as they grow into thoughtful, respectful, and engaged citizens.

Warm regards,

Ms. Carlson & Dr. Mack

Principal & Assistant Principal

REPORT CARDS & STANDARDS BASED GRADING

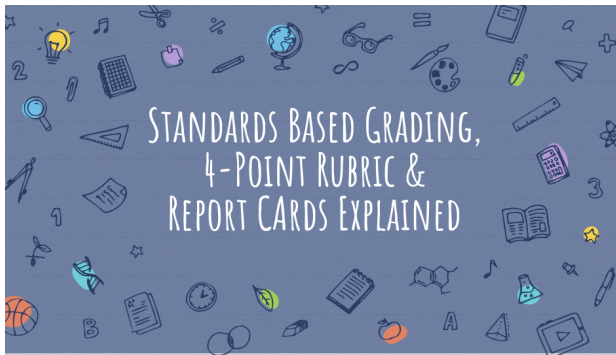

Report cards are sent home 3 times per year and are an opportunity for teachers to share students' progress towards standards mastery as well as feedback on their execution of lifelong learning skills – those skills foundational to being a learner.

Academic grading is based on current, or most recent student understanding of what has been taught and not based on end of year expectations.

Sunnyvale School District utilizes a 4-point rubric to describe student progress towards meeting grade level standards and demonstrating lifelong learning skills.

There are multiple ways to better understand how to read and interpret your child's report card and the rubrics.

1. Check out the Sunnyvale School District Website: SSD Report Cards and Standards Based Grading
 - Here you will also find grade level specific Parent Guides to the Report Card in both English and Spanish
2. View the following brief video clips explaining Standards Based Grading (also located on the SSD website):
 - SBG Key Components (2 mins)
 - SBG Rubric Explanation (5 mins)
3. Read through the following slides:
 -  Standards Based Grading, Report Cards, 4-Point Rubric & Expert Lea...
 - Slides also include information about English learner report cards:

4. Contact your child's teacher directly.
 - While we have early release days for Parent/Teacher conferences only once a year (September Goals Conferences), parents and caregivers are welcome and encouraged to request a conference at any time, before or after school, to review student progress.
